Seen, Heard and Told

By The Editor

—V—

The many friends he has met here, including myself, regret to hear that Major Hauseal, Personnel Officer at the Camp, has been transferred. He and I went to Georgia Tech at the same time.

"Puss" Mitchell, one of my old buddies in the first World War has returned to Grenada and appears to be on the express run up No. 7 Highway.

A good many have received "Greetings from the President," which means that a big bunch will leave here Saturday for Camp Shelby. A good many of them are married men. I thought the list of single men was supposed to be exhausted before the list of married men was tapped, but maybe I am ignorant.

Mabel and I are proud of our second son, Andrew, who is married, who has volunteered in the U. S. Air Corps. He is our last one, the other one having been in the army nearly two years. Our boys are just as good as they have, but no better. All should be fed from the same spoon.

I think that Byron Hunter "has something" in suggesting that the local air field be called "Clanton Field" in honor of Guy Clanton, a Grenada youth who lost his life while serving as a bombardier in the Southwest Pacific.

Mrs. "Red" Martin, secretary of the Rationing Board, is another fine looking lady whose likeness will appear in the rotogravure section.

Guy Scarl lived up to his surname when he recently subscribed to the GCW.

From the best information available all of the bootleggers are going to go against the continued sale of beer in this county. There is no big stocking potential competition.

We coffee drinkers, who will soon be restricted to one cup aday, will soon learn that the war is on, especially the old lady who MUST have her cup of coffee before she gets up.

Dear Professor Rundle: please try to get the Rationing Board or the OPA to let the Bulldog editors have a new typewriter ribbon. Signed, D. H. Horn, the linotypist.

If this is to be a long war—and the government seems to be preparing for a long war—children in schools and colleges should be taught things useful in the war effort, instead of a lot of so-called cultural stuff.

All of the Engineers and the contractors have been extremely nice to me; so has the Main employees; and now the officers and men at Post Headquarters have been extremely kind courteous—all of which is appreciated.

I still wonder if they have any printing done at the camp.

Dear Brother Knost: the gentleman that you and I have always been so "hot" for stopped by Grenada Sunday. I told him you were here and he asked to be remembered to you.

Ole Miss got its whiskers trimmed Saturday.

Better get THAT new car tag in October.

While this is not news, it helps fill up, Francis Hill of Ole Mess, spent the week-end in Grenada.

Mrs. Mary Murphy, of Grenada, is welcomed to our steadily growing mailing list. Welcome, sister Murphy.

Aint they sweet.

Little Tommie Rose, now in the Southwest somewhere, is about the only subscriber who gets his copy of the GCW by Air Mail. Hope you become a corporal soon, Private Rose.

Tomorrow (Friday) is the deadline on the rotogravure section. If YOU have changed your mind about having representation in that supplement, call Mr. Meyers Friday.

Who remembers when an injunction, afterwards dissolved, was obtained against Doak for having an underground gasoline tank?

Proby looks right nice in his new suit.

We hope the cooperation between the civil and military authorities will continue as started. At the present time there is wholehearted cooperation.

Speaking of military police, I remember that in the last war anybody who was not fit for anything else was put on MP duty. Today, the MP's are specialists.

TIME TO MAKE GOOD

Have you ever heard the statement, "America is a land of golden opportunity," and then wondered how these words apply to you personally? This is your day, your chance to make good, and you dare not fail. This is the most glorious day that the world has ever seen, a greater chance for service than ever before. What are you, as a high school student, doing about your share? Boys facing almost immediate military duty and knowing not what the future may hold for them, need to take advantage of their present opportunity to grasp all the knowledge at is now at hand, and do their best in everything they undertake now, as well as later. It is easy for us to feel that school work is comparatively trivial, in relation to all other things that are going on in the world today. If we stop to think for for many of us this is our last opportunity to secure scholastic training, we will appreciate our opportunities more. We will realize that what knowledge we acquire now is fitting us to take our part in the world after school days. We have thirty more weeks to improve our first period records and it is up to us to show our appreciation of our golden opportunities by doing just that. It is up to us to do our best in everything every day. We must take what we are given, and work with it to the best of our ability.

Each of us has a piece of work to do.

GRENADA BULLDOGS ROMP TO 27 TO 6 VICTORY OVER WINONA

The Grenada Bulldogs drew closer to a confernce championship Friday night when they defeated Winona 27 to 6 on Winona's home field.

Sparked by the sensational running of Edgar Turnipseed, the Grenada boys rolled down the field to score in every quarter in gaining their fourth conference win against no defeats. Turnipseed, turning in one of his best performances of the season, scored all of Grenada's touchdowns and addded one of the extra points, Marascalco and Purdie accounting for the other two. The Grenada backs, working behind a stonewall line, wer continually getting away for long gains and were given very little trouble by the Winona defense.

The Winona team scored its lone tally on a pass in the second quarter.

CHAPEL

Chapel Wednesday was begun with the school singing "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "We're All Americans."

Mr. Rundle then gave a short talk on the subject "How old are you?" Taking his text from a part of Genesis where Joseph presents his father to the Pharoah and is not ashamed of him because he was an old shepherd, Mr. Rundle declared that life is measured in service rather than inyears. The moral is that you can live a very long time and do nothing or vice versa. He compared the short useful life of Jesus to the very long useful life of Methusaleh.

Several announcements were made, and Mr. Rundle appointed the presidents of each class, under the leadership of Misses Turner and Simmons, to decide how to spend the money collected from the second scrap drive.

THE HOME FRONT
REGIONAL OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION

In selling extra tires to the government, motorists may keep the best five. Lots of tires are coming out of hiding. One cautious and far-sighted citizen, evidently preparing for a 30-year war, has disgored 24 good tires.

Bad news for Hitler—New ships are being launched at an average of three a day.

FOR THE SOLDIER'S STOCKING

He may not hang it up this year, but the soldier overseas will sure appreciate a Christmas present for his stocking. And he won't get it unless it's mailed within the next few days. Home made randy may be sent if sealed in something like a tin cogee can with adhsive tape to keep it air tight.

By the end of the year nearly half of all our available resources will be going to war. We're going to get along with less and less on the home front.

SHORT, SHORT ORDERS

Restaurants are being asked to continue serving regular orders of meat but to offer half portions at reduced prices to customers who are cooperating in the move to cut down on meat consumption.

Prices of pork, important to all Southerners, is going to be held down, says OPA.

Canned saurkraut is "frozen." But it may be sold in bulk. Thus we return to the "kraut barrel era." Before this thing is over, we may get back to the friendly days of the old cracker barrel.

SLOW MOTION

Applications for "Certificates of War Necessity" aren't coming in from the South fast enough, says ODT. Some folks will find themselves unable to get gas to run their farm trucks, unless they hurry and mail back their forms. After November 15, no owner of any kind of truck can get gas, tires or spare parts without a certificate.

Circuses and carnivals must get off the road by December. It looks as end it's their last go-round until after the war.

PHONEY HOME SALES

To crack down on phoney sales of houses, the government now requires purchasers to pay one-third down in buying a dwelling. Some landlords have been trying to evade rent control by a fancy time-payment plan which amounted to paying higher rents.

Farm products are going overseas in constantly increasing quantities. Government purchases to fill the needs of U. S. and Allied soldiers last month were 38 percent above those in August.

FACTS GRENADA MUST KNOW

Q. Is it true, as some agitators claim, that intemperance is prevalent in our armed forces?

A. NO. Secretary of War Stimson says: "War Department regulations . . . permit the sale of beer . . . this policy has caused a decrease in intemperance among our personnel which is not approachable in civil communities . . .

The recent report of Surgeon General Magee of the United States Army showed a decline of 76 percent in the alcoholism rate in the army since its last peak in 1922. The report recorded the lowest alcoholism rate in 21 years.

Q. Are the Nazis spreading false reports about soldiers drinking in order to stir sentiments against beer and create disunity in America?

A. Yes. The Nazi short-wave radio propagandists are spreading false rumors about drinking around army camps. This was checked by a Boston rumor clinic. Beer or wine sold for our troops, you may be sure the Nazis would never interfere with it.

Q. What is the beer industry in Mississippi doing to regulate the sale of beer properly and to assist military and civil authorities to control conditions in army camp areas?

A. PLENTY. Through the Mississippi Committee—Brewing Industry Foundation the beer industry works in close cooperation with army camp commanders, provost marshals, intelligence officers, sheriffs, police, constables, highway patrolmen and other law enforcement officials and citizens. Action is taken against law violators. The industry discourages sales to retailers who neglect or refuse to obey the law. Military authorities are furnished detailed reports on the operation of beer outlets in the vicinity of army camps and fields, and the industry "cracks down" on operators whose conduct is detrimental to the welfare of the armed forces and the community.

Q. How long will the work of the Mississippi Committee—Brewing Industry Foundation continue in Grenada County?

A. As long as the sale of beer is legal in Grenada County.

SECRETARY OF WAR HENRY L. STIMSON, SECRETARY OF NAVY FRANK KNOX AND SURGEON GENERAL JAMES C. MAGEE ASSERT THAT CONTROL AND REGULATION IS THE ANSWER TO MILITARY PERSONNEL DRINKING PROBLEMS.

STATE AND LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITIES ALSO RECOGNIZE THAT THE BEER INDUSTRY'S SELF-REGULATION PROGRAM IS A VITAL COG IN THE CONTROL MACHINERY.

TO STOP THE LEGAL SALE OF BEER IN GRENADA COUNTY WOULD SABOTAGE THIS CONTROL MACHINERY BECAUSE THE MISSISSIPPI COMMITTEE CAN FUNCTION ONLY WHERE THE SALE OF BEER IS LEGAL.

★

When the legal sale of beer, under such SELF-REGULATION is voted out the BOOTLEGGER IS VOTED IN.

It is far better to control the sale of moderate beer in legally, self-regulated places than to invite the bootlegger back into business in your Community.

THE CHRISTIAN VIEW OF MARRIAGE

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 2:18-24; Matthew 19:3-6; John 2:1-5.

GOLDEN TEXT—Marriage is honorable in all.—Hebrews 13:4.

The home is not just one of the institutions of our social order, it is a part of God's plan for man. It thus holds a position of greater importance than institutions of society, and should take first place in our thinking.

Home and the life which centers in it has lost much of its meaning and value in recent decades. It is appropriate and timely to study for four weeks in our Sunday schools the foundation principles of the home and to learn how we may hinder or help it in its influence. Teachers will wish to make much of this vital series.

We begin right when we inquire what the Bible teaches about marriage, and we find the instruction plentiful and to the point. Concerning marriage we learn of

I. Its Origin—Ordained by God (Gen. 2:18-24).

Nations and states have marriage laws, and certain civil requirements must be met. But true marriage from the Christian viewpoint is far more than a civil contract. It is an ordinance which God Himself ordained from the beginning for the welfare of man.

As Adam gave names to the animals (which, incidentally, tells of his intelligence and ability) they passed before him. It became evident to him that there was no true fellowship between man and beast, that there must be a "help meet" for man, one of his own kind, with his capacities of personal being.

God quickly and adequately meets every real need of man, so He created out of Adam's own flesh one who was to be his true companion. "If man is the head, she is the crown," said Matthew Henry. "The man was dust refined, but the woman was dust doubly refined, one move further from the earth. She was not taken out of his head to top him, not out of his feet to be trampled upon by him, but out of his side to be equal with him, under his arm to be protected, and near his heart to be beloved."

So God ordained marriage, but down through the ages man has seen fit to tamper with God's holy arrangements, adjusting them to suit himself, so we need to be reminded of the truth.

II. Its Control—Not Subject to Man (Matt. 19:3-6).

Because of the hardness of man's heart Moses permitted divorce (Mark 10:4, 5), but God did not intend it from the beginning. The Jewish rabbis had so stretched the interpretation of that act of Moses that a wife could be divorced for almost any reason. The same was true among heathen nations.

Our Lord makes it very clear that man has no authority to determine such matters at all, that the union of life in true marriage is by the act of God, and that no man has power to sunder such a relationship.

The whole trend of thought on marriage has been away from its sacredness as a divine institution, and we need to return to a proper appreciation of it as such. All too often, marriages are mere civil agreements, hastily made before a justice of peace. We need to encourage our young people to recognize

III. Its Dignity—Sanctioned by Christ (John 2:1-5).

The wedding ceremony tells us that marriage "is an honorable estate, instituted by God in the time of man's innocency, confirmed by the teaching and hallowed by the presence of our blessed Lord, and likened by St. Paul to the holy union that exists between Christ and the Church; and therefore is not by any to be entered into unadvisedly, but reverently, discreetly and in the fear of God."

At the very beginning of His public ministry Jesus performed His first miracle as His share of a wedding feast. It is true that He does share every occasion of joy and sorrow of His people, but it seems to be significant that this first occasion for His miraculous power was a wedding.

He was there to rejoice with and to bless those who had exchanged their vows in marriage. Should He not be the unseen guest at every wedding? Whether in the home or in the church; whether the occasion be a simple or an elaborate one; whether a host of friends attend or only the witnesses—always and everywhere Jesus Christ should be recognized as the One who stands by to bless, and to unite the two lives for His own glory.

This means that the ceremony should be a Christian one, with prayer a vital part of it, and the will of God paramount. Then indeed, God may and will join together that which no man can put asunder.

AMERICAN RED CROSS

SO THAT America will be well prepared on the home front, the American Red Cross has set a goal of one person in every home to be trained in home nursing.

Red Cross home nursing courses teach simple methods of keeping the family well, and how to care for its members in sickness. The students—mostly women, many men and large numbers of young people—are also taught to recognize symptoms in the early stages. This is expected to help prevent the usual wartime epidemics.

So far in this war, more than 90 per cent of the civilian casualties have not been hospitalized. Instead they have been given first aid and whatever emergency treatment was necessary and then sent home.

A large portion of such civilian war casualties have required home nursing care which, due to the shortage of nurses, had to be provided by members of the family.

To enable every family to provide home care for the sick, whether due to enemy action or natural causes, immediately after the attack on Pearl Harbor, the Red Cross started a plan to teach home nursing to every family.

Any group of 20 or more can form a home nursing class by agreeing on a time and place of meeting. After being notified, the county Red Cross chapter will then appoint a graduate nurse instructor.

OLD DESK BEFORE IT WAS MADE OVER
FRAMED EMBROIDERY IN POPPY, CORNFLOWER AND WHEAT DESIGN
PAINTED WHEAT COLOR
POPPY RED
BLUE

HERE is a sketch of a corner in a smart living room. Over the desk hangs a piece of applique work that any woman who can sew a seam can make with a piece of natural colored linen, a few scraps of gingham and odds and ends of embroidery thread. The design is of poppies, cornflowers and wheat, with graceful green leaves. The poppy petals and leaves are of gingham applied on the linen. The bright blue cornflowers, the yellow wheat and stems are embroidered in simple stitches.

This quickly made piece of hand work was framed by stretching it over cardboard, and it set the color scheme for the entire room. No one would ever guess that the desk is a transformation of the fancy oak one shown at the left. The top was sawed off and a plain board added. The bookcases were then added at the sides and the plywood door was hinged to them. The sketch shows how the coloring of the applique picture was repeated in the desk, blotter and stool.

NOTE: A hot iron transfer has been made of this applique design with extra patterns of cornflowers and poppies for a luncheon set or guest towels. You will love working with these fascinating colors and the quick results are just the thing for Christmas gifts. Send your order to:

POWER

By M. R. FRISKEY
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

STEVE pushed his heavy white coffee cup across the table toward his wife. Silently, she poured the steaming black liquid into it. Steve was a big man—always knew what he wanted, and had nerve enough to go out after it.

The glare of the single light bulb suspended above them was diffused by the haze of the room where hung the mingled odors of coffee, strong soap on linoleum, unpainted pine boards. None of the one-room shacks along the river which housed the power-house employees had been painted.

Ann brushed her hair back off her forehead and rose to cross the room, moving as though fatigue had eaten into her body like a disease. She studied the flushed face of the child on the pillow.

"Steve, she's worse!"

"Ah, she'll be awright. But I'll send the Doc over on my way to the plant."

Something in his manner arrested his wife. She turned quickly. "You're not going—to—do any damage tonight, Steve?"

"Why not?"

She knew by the set of his chin and the glint in his eyes, that she could as easily change the course of the swirling river outside, as stop him.

"But, Steve," she pleaded, holding onto the lapels of his rough wool jacket, "violence won't get you anywhere. You're strong and brave and big, but Steve, you gotta be smart to get anywhere. You gotta be smart!"

"Don't worry, kid. I'm smart. I'm just going to talk to those birds in a language they can understand."

"But, Steve! Twenty-three thousand volts!"

But despite her deeply appealing look she seemed to sense that her entreaty was of no avail.

"Didn't I just tell you I was smart? Well, I ain't planning to toast myself to a cinder with the voltage in that place." He lowered his voice. "There's an easier way to blow up the works. Stop the flow of pulverized coal, see? Flame goes out. Start the flow again, and when the furnace is full—the coal ignites from the hot walls . . . that's all. No more furnace. Why, it's just the kind of thing that's apt to happen any day, in the best plants. That'll show 'em! Think they can get us guys to come down to live in this hole on the chance that we'll make enough money to live right some day. And what do they do? Cut our pay! Lay men off! Cut our pay some more, and leave us stuck in this hole, the dirty—I'll show 'em!"

Steve's face softened as he looked at his little girl. He lifted a wisp of curl on his clumsy finger. The heavy eyelids stirred a little.

"I went out this morning to tell your rabbits you was better," the big man said softly, "but they was so disappointed it wasn't you, that they wouldn't have a thing to do with me."

A breath of cold, fresh air blew into the little room as the door was opened, and he was gone.

* * *

Doc Jones and Ann sat watching the child in silence as the long hours dragged by. Her noisy breathing and the hollow ticking of the clock were the only sounds.

Suddenly electrified into activity, the doctor said: "Get me a blanket on that kitchen table! Cover it with a clean sheet. Put on a big apron and tie your hair back with a clean napkin."

"Doc," gasped Ann. "You don't mean?" Her knees dissolved into putty.

"Gotta open up her throat and put a tube in. Sometimes happens in diphtheria. Work fast there. Boil some water for me." He picked up a coarse brush and scrubbed his hands until they were raw.

Swiftly and silently the doctor and Ann transformed the kitchen into an operating room.

"Don't worry, Ann," he assured her. "Heart is strong. Got to get her some air. Steady now, Ann. Stick it out. Lose one minute now and we would be too late!"

The doctor leaned over his little patient, his hand steady with the assurance that he could save the child with his skill.

Suddenly the light went out! There was the distant thud of an explosion at the power plant. Only darkness remained and the smell of strong soap on linoleum, unpainted pine boards.

Ann crushed the small form to her, vainly trying to do by sheer force of will and prayer what science had no chance to do. "Dear God," she prayed. "Dear God!" And the pain within her numbed her whole body as though her own heart had been cut out in that improvised operating room.

The noisy breathing of the child and the hollow ticking of the kitchen clock continued for a few minutes and then there was just the clock.

Hours later, Ann was conscious of cold air on her face as the front door was flung open. Steve's gruff voice filled the house.

"Hi, girl," he called into the darkness. "Done a swell job, all right. Don't tell me I ain't smart!"

These Fashions Meet Demands Of an Alert 'Teen-Age Group

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

FOR novelty, variety, color intrigue, general wearableness and utilitarian service attuned to the demands of youth; for that young look that fashion-alert juniors and teen-agers want in the clothes they wear, this season's entrants into the fall-winter fashion contest score about 100 per cent perfect.

First and foremost, color is the magic word that turns even the most simple fashion into a thing of beauty, and it's color that is stampeding its way right through the entire fashion picture this season. The "big idea" centers brightly around daring color contrast as interpreted by the use of a jacket in one color topping a skirt of another, or by the use of materials of contrasting hues seamed and patched together with amazing adroitness.

A fashion that has completely captured the fancy of modern youth is the two-piece that tops a plaid or checked wool skirt with a vivid velveteen jacket which is cunningly detailed with buttons and which relates itself to the skirt it companions by taking on a binding of its material. It's just as effective and style-correct to contrast monotones. A fuchsia-purple skirt may be worn with a fuchsia-red jacket, a bright red jacket with an autumn leaf green skirt and so on.

Every girl nowadays is building her wardrobe around two basic items, namely the softly styled dressmaker suit and the little wool dress that doesn't miss a "trick" in taking on fetching trimming detail. Even the simplest little jersey frock is audaciously taking on glitter touches in way of nailheads and jewelry-embroidered necklines, and the latest gesture of the demure jersey dress is to go so far as to steal the glory of a sequin-embroidered motif now and then. The intriguing modes pictured in the above illustration were given prominence at a recent fashion revue presented by the style creators of Chicago as types which have won the unanimous vote of young girls.

It is evident that the suits shown have succeeded in capturing the spirit of youth which young moderns demand. The suit to the right interprets the contrast idea in that it teams a vivid Kelly green wool jacket with a shallow pleated (complying with priority rulings as to hemline measurement) skirt of black. The black binding around the jacket effects a tie-up between skirt and jacket-top that achieves a unified costume. Self-fabric surface decoration is placed high on the jacket front in a manner to suggest pockets.

The other suit is done in pale beige wool with a slightly ribbed surface. The prominence of beige is notable in both dress and coat collections. The slender gored skirt and slit breast pockets and the general bid for simplicity which it makes is in keeping with the fabric conservation program. Note especially the girlish round neckline which is important fashion news. The new square shoulder look is stressed via deft seaming.

Every youthful wardrobe is supposed to have its quota of flattering little one-piece frocks to wear under the winter coat. The significant thing about the two frocks pictured is that they owe much of their charm to bright yarn trimming touches. It's a jersey-dress season and no mistake! Both models pictured are fashioned of natural wool and rabbit's hair jersey.

Style features of interest in the dress to the right are the wool embroidered pockets and the use of wool yarn stitching about the neck and shoulders. The tie-belt is also an interesting detail. The two-piece to the left features contrast sleeves knitted of bright red yarn. The edges, too, are finished off with matched red yarn.

Spaghetti Trim

Here is an effective use of the new and smart "spaghetti" fabric loop trim. There is an epaulet of the loops at one shoulder and also a modish peplum effect. This is one of those good looking black dresses that go anywhere in perfect style. Smart styling features are the long fitted-below-the-elbow sleeves with the new deep armhole cut that is now so extremely fashionable. The slim, sleek silhouette so admirably achieved is what every woman covets. Designers are using self-trim, color contrast and sparkling accents to achieve the variety so noticeable this season.

'Winter White' Is Again a Favorite

The young set adores "winter" white for the date dress or for informal party wear. And so the craze is on for whites and near whites as it was last season. Favored materials in the much beloved white include the new Aralac flannel, wool and rayon mixtures and a very smart looking wool and rayon boucle, but the darling of all is the white jersey frock that is enlivened with gay yarn embroidery or vividly colorful insets, jewel buttons or perhaps crocheted wool edgings and gilt leather touches done in applique.

White fur, especially in boxy short casual coats and capes, is also popular. Young girls are wearing these white fur casuals with slacks, and later on they will be wearing them with their skating costumes.

Priorities Coin a New Word—'Companion' Suit

Women who are looking to the future are buying wisely and thoughtfully. They look upon a suit of good quality as the answer to their need for a costume that will be ready to wear on all but the most formal occasions.

Buying a "companion" suit made up of jacket, skirt and matching long topcoat this year is very different from last year's procedure. This season priority rulings do not permit buying the three pieces as a unit, the parts must be sold separately. However, designers and manufacturers are making it possible to secure a perfect match even if the topcoat must be purchased separately.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Rubber is not the sap of a tree, but is the latex found in tubes that run lengthwise throughout the inner part of the bark.

Individual car owners can conserve rubber. Never drive over 35 miles an hour, check inflation pressure once a week, check wheel alignment every six months, rotate tires (including spares) to different wheels every 3,000 miles. It is not a difficult habit to acquire and it will keep you rolling longer.

Why balk at 35 miles an hour restrictions! In Jerusalem 8 miles an hour is the limit for automobiles, with the speed warnings printed in Arabic, Hebrew and English.

The Army is supplied by hundreds of thousands of rubber-tired trucks, but one of which for a 2½ ton vehicle, takes more than 2 times as much rubber as your passenger car.

Pontoon bridges are built on rubber floats that take more than a ton and a half of rubber.

PA WHITAKER

He rushes in. "Where Angels fear to tread."
I said to Pa, "Just let me write you up
For this roto-gravure number."
Pa is not a cool cucumber,
And his face turned very red and hot.
As modestly he said,
"Oh eulogize me not!"

You find Pa everywhere,
And everything that is worth-while
You find this fellow boosting.
I know this makes you smile,
But,—we've got a camp;
We've got an Air Port.
And I think we'll get the Yalobusha Dam.
And all of this, I still insist,
Would not exist
Without Pa's heavy boosting.

—V—

There is a rumor with little foundation to the effect that the beer election will be contested. This would be a futile thing to do, even if some technicality could be found amiss. The people spoke in no mistakable terms on Tuesday.

We are assured that we will have about 32 pages in our rotogravure supplement—the largest such supplement that I have seen in Mr. Meyer's large collections of such supplements.

It is a great pity that I have misplaced the home brew outfit that I had in pre-beer days, for I could now find a ready sale for it.

Fourteen of the forty-one boys who left for the Reception Center at Camp Shelby last Saturday failed to qualify. The names of the 27 men accepted will be published when they return for active duty about he 15th. The GCW plans, as usual, to give each man a set of printed stationery.

I make this suggestion to the MPs: place the "Peavine" section and "West Ward" out of bound for white soldiers. They have no business in the colored section anyway.

The tales of woe, coming from married officers and married enlisted men who are desperately seeking quarters here are not only touching in the extreme, but also pretty monotonous. The pattern is the same: some man and wife wishing to live together during the last months the man will be in the United States, a perfectly natural desire.

Bill Boone, the basso from Batesville, visited us Wednesday bringing with him some of the good old Panola money.

See where Brother J. B. Boling has moved from Ackerman to Pelahatchie in good old Rankin.

I heard a good deal at he Ground Hog Barber Shop that I cannot put in the paper.

The election is over. There are important things to be done. The greatest thing is to win the war. There is no use in falling out with the OTHER fellow because tomorrow the OTHER fellow and YOU will be together on another issue. Life is too short to get mad because all people do not see things like you do. Such an attitude is hard on the blood pressure.

Beer means less than nothing in my sweet, young life. I stated my honest convictions in last week's issue, which I had a perfect right to do. I sincerely hope that all of the good things that the anti-beer people predicted will come true; and that all the dire things that we pro-beer fellows predicted will not come true. Only time can tell.

See where Private Lambert Gammons has been sent to an air field in Texas from Keesler Field, and I hope this information will not be of benefit to the enemy.

It seems to me that our First Lady should stay at home and darn the President's socks, sew buttons on his undies and see that he is fed properly rather than traipsying all over the earth.

Dear Brother Knost: whenthehell are you and your partner going to have your pictures "struck?" You all are gumming up the detail.

Mike Conner, they say, is getting a lot of mail, especially postal cards, these days.

Aint they sweet.

Please help us keep Horn and Greenfield out of dev'lment this weekend.

I saw a fellow I knew one day last week.

Mr. Cottingham, formerly of Winona, is breaking himself in at Fox Volunteer Store preparatory to taking over on the 15th, at which time George Fox is going to seek to enter the armed forces. Welcome, Brother C[illegible]gham; good luck, George.

If you do not know his rank, call him "Colonel," that is unless he has a star on his shoulder. Never demote an officer.

The J. A. Jones Company received some sort of award of merit from the government this week, the details of which I have been unable to get. The award is given those firms which have done outstanding work in the war effort. Lest you no know who Jones is, he is the prime contractor at Camp McCain.

A lot of pretty gals were at the USO dance Saturday night.

Jobs Awaiting The Workers Trained For War Industries

Both men and women trained in the local Aircraft sheetmetal and riveting school and the machine shop are being hired as quickly as they can complete their shop training. Training in either of the shops is free. Qualified factory experienced instructors are in charge of the classes. The aircraft sheetmetal and riveting shop is located on First Street across from the Spotless Cleaners, the machine shop is located in the rear of Biddy's Machine Shop on Commerce Street. You are cordially invited to stop in at any time and talk with the instructors.

Enrollment is made through the U. S. Employment Service, Masonic Temple Building, Grenada, or at your nearest Employment Service. These classes can be completed in from six to twelve weeks and jobs will be secured for you at some nearby war plant.

Since the schools have been in operation over four hundred have received training that has equipped them to go into war industries. Men that are expecting to be drafted may center the classes and equip themselves to enter some specialized service upon their induction. Special ratings are available for men with training in aircraft work or machine operation.

Women have proved themselves to be as proficient as men in this work. You are needed in our war industries, enroll and help your country and at the same time earn good wages. Our instructors will be glad to explain to any women the jobs that are awaiting them upon completion of the training work here.

Nineteen Year Older Makes Good In Uncle Sam's Army

Mothers worrying about signing papers to permit their 18-19 year old sons to join the army, should take a look at Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyers, of Rochester, New York, who celebrated their 23rd wedding anniversary in October.

Three wars ago they signed papers so that their youngest son, who was under age, could satisfy his ambition to join the army. Since then, they have not only seen him through the Mexican Border fighting of 1914, and World War I, into World War II, but they have seen him rise from enlisted rans to full Colonel.

This youthfil enlistee of 1914 is Colonel Herbert A. Meyers, head of the entire Military Personnel Branch of the Fourth Service Command.

Aggrieved Landowners Being Heard This Week

Some of the landowners who were aggrieved over the prices offered for their lands in the Camp McCain area are being heard by United States District Judge Allen Cox, at the Federal Court in Oxford this week.

So far, we have received no information about the outcome of any case.

Some of the landowners allege that they were offered less for their lands than they owed the Federal Land Bank on the lands.

Spencer Davis Replaces Durrow Horn As Cop

Mr. Spencer Davis replaced Mr. Durrow Horn on the police force effective Sunday, the 31st.

Mr. Davis, a native of Calhoun County, has been employed over two years at the 7-51 Service Station.

Mr. Horn, who is the agent here for the Memphis Commercial Appeal, found the dual task of policing and delivering the greatly enlarged numbers of the Commercial too arduous, and will, in the future, devote his entire attention to the sale and delivery of that newspaper.

Please Note

We have misplaced what we call our "probation" list, that is the small list of people who have called in or written in to send the GCW, but who have not yet paid for it, and are therefore not on the REGULAR mailing list.

The loss of this list means that about 15 people will not receive copies until this list is found or until we are renotified.

Sorry.

E. R. Burkley Named on State Salvage Committee

Mr. E. R. Burkley, prominent Grenada business leader, has been named a member of the Mississippi Industrial Salvage Committee by appointment of Les M. Taylor, of Jackson, who is state chairman.

Mr. Burkley is one of twenty-two Mississippians who have been asked to serve in the current War Production Board campaign to speed the flow of industrial salvage from the state's 1000 plants to the nation's steel mills which are desperately in need of scrap to supply war needs.

In calling upon Mississippi industry to furnish every available pound of salvage, State Chairman Taylor said that it was up to industrial plants to supply 70 percent of the scrap necessary to keep steel mills operating.

The slogan of the campaign is; "If it hasn't been used in three months and if someone can't prove that it's to be used in the next three months, find a use for it—or scrap it."

Soldier Injured By Fall From Truck

A soldier from Camp McCain, Pvt. Wade R. Shaffer, native of Johnston, Pa., who fell from a truck and struck his head on the concrete paving, is in Grenada Hospital and is still unconscious. He is improving, according to Dr. Avent.

The accident ocurred about 4:15 Wednesday on Highway 51, South, near the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kirk.

Civic League To Meet

The GCW has been requested to announce that the Civic League will meet at the home of Miss Mary Knox at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, November 11th.

THARPE-ALFORD

Mrs. Annie Tharpe announces the marriage of her son, T. J. Tharpe to Miss Juanita Alford which took place Saturday night, October 31 in the home of Mr. M. McKibben, who spoke the words that united this couple. Mr. Tharpe is the only son of Mrs. Annie Tharpe. Mrs. Tharpe is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alford, of Black Hawk. At present both are employed at the Grenada Industries and their many friends wish for them the pleasure of a long happy life together.—By G. S. Reporter.

The MPs on duty Saturday night, I understand, proved to be inadequate to preserve order on the Peavine and in West Ward. Double them, triple them quadruple them if necessary, for we cannot afford to relax discipline for, without discipline an army is no more than a mob.

Aint they sweet.

Drilling Started On Dr. J. K. Avent's Place Last Saturday

The Adams Oil Company started drilling for oil on the Dr. J. K. Avent place about three miles southwest of Grenada on Saturday last.

According to our information the drilling contract is held by Mr. "Red" Ivon, and that the drill bit is to go a minimum depth of 4,000 feet, after which, if the geologist so advises, will penetrate deeper.

The site of the well is at approximately the center of Dr. Avent's land.

The Adams Company holds leases on 6500 acres of adjacent territory and is ready to pay off for another year's rentals.

Sheriff's Office, A Busy Place Recently

The "tag rush" was on at thte sheriff's office Friday and Saturday when the belated buyers of tags thronged that place, seeking to beat the October deadline when tags cost 25 percent more.

While the sheriff's office was unable to say exactly, it estimated that about 500 more tags would be sold this year than last—due to the presence here of so many out of the state cars and trucks.

New Flags To Wave On Armistice Day

Grenada will have the first view of the new American flags on the streets of the business section on November 11th. These new flags, replacing those acquired fifteen years ago, were purchased with money contributions secured from the businessmen of Grenada by the American Legion Post.

Notice About Armistice Day Mail

The Grenada post office will be open on November 11th, but there will be no deliveries on the rural routes.

BEER AND LIGHT WINES VOTED OUT BY OVER TWO TO ONE MARGIN

In the General Election Tuesday of this week every Democratic nominee was unanimously elected, beer and light wines were voted out 541 to 283, and both constitutional amendments carried by a handsome majority.

Roberts for Supreme Court Justice 681, John F. Allen (reelected) for Circuit Judge 5th District 681, A. S. Seale (reelected) for Chancellor 2nd District 682.

No person voted for the proposed constitutional change regarding the appointment of judges for the institutions of higher learning, 541 voted against the change while about 200 voted either for this or this voting "No". 405 persons voted for the proposed constitutional change regarding the 10th Section, 283 of these 571 voted against the change while about 170 voted neither way this voting "No".

The main interest which caused such an unprecedented number of people to vote for a General Election was the proposal to legalize the sale of beer and light wines in Grenada County. On this issue 541 persons voted to approve the sale of these beverages while 283 voted to maintain the status quo. The box score on this phase of the election was as follows:

Thoughts About Government Affairs

To make it mandatory on the Army to keep the 18-20 age men in the United States for a year before use overseas would severely handicap the army.

The New Deal got a deserved drubbing Tuesday. The people are not satisfied with the conduct of the war. They want more action and less red tape.

For the first time since the war began, our side read of successes everywhere, in Thursday morning newspapers. It is time we were getting a few breaks.

The FHA reports that it has collected more than $50,000 from clients in this county this year.

Men in their forties are not much good as combat troops. The young ones make the best soldiers.

Rationing sugar and cutting down production do not make sense.

Every one earning more than $12.00 per week will have to pay 5 percent of his earning as a Victory Tax the first of the year—the tax to be collected and sent in by the employer.

THERE IS A WAR ON. This will be news to many people who go nonchalently about their affairs as they did in times of peace. Wake up!!

Civilian sacrifices will become progressively greater as time goes on.

One well known grocer in this community stated that there are 246 items off his shelf—articles ordinarily listed for everyday's business.

Did you know, ladies and gentlemen, what is the name applied to your difficulty in obtaining the things you customarily buy . . . the bacon, hams, sugar, lard, dried fruits, etc? This is the result of the thing called inflation. In fact, it is inflation.

Inflation is that state of affairs which finds money plentiful and merchandise scarce . . . We have arrived at the early stages of inflation—that condition which time and time again was forecast in this column, even back in the days of 1933.

The thing that strikes me as being pathetically amusing is that the Surplus Commodities Corporation is still issuing food stamps to individuals. This is a means of giving foodstuffs away so as to reduce what the government has called the dangerous surplus of commodities.

Mr. A. N. Strahan Celebrates 80th Birthday

On November 2 Mr. A. N. Strahan celebrated his 80th birthday at his home here. His two daughtert, Misses Mary and Annie arranged a beautiful dinner for him and the family on Sunday, and with the exception of one of his grandsons, Herbert Drennon, who is in the army, the family circle all attended. From out of town were his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Drennon, her husband and son, Rodney, from Miss. State College; Miss Martha Strahan, of Miss. State College and Mrs. Mercer Rich and Mr. Rich, of Arcola, Miss.

Congratulation, Mr. Strahan.

Victory Bridge Party At Community

Six tables of bridgers enjoyed the games, and high score was again captured by Mrs. Donald Ross. The preceding Wednesday Mrs. Ross was given $11.00 in stamps as prize and this week she received $8.00 in stamps. The Victory Party is given each week. The price of admission is one 25c war stamp.

Next Wednesday evening the ladies will be hostess at an Evening Party at the "Crow's Nest" located at the Barwin Hotel. Arrange now to attend. Bridge, rook, pitch, or your own favorite card game will be arranged. Remember you are cordially invited.

L. E. Norsworthy Receives Telegram From War Dept.

To The Students of Defense Training Courses, Care: L. E. Norsworthy, Board of Education, Grenada.

The Army thanks you for your decision to enter American War Industry. Our troops in the front lines are depending on the supplies you will send them. The Army knows you will give your best so that together the men and women at the battle front and in the factories of America will smash the Axis.

The above telegram was received from Under-Secretary of War, Patterson, by L. E. Norsworthy, Supervisor War Production Training, Grenada High School.

The Grenada County Weekly was honored by a visit from Private Simon Sadoff who expects a visit by his wife on New Years Eve. There will be a good time in the old town then.

Crisis Facing City Schools

Unless something is done to increase the capacity of the City Schools, these schools will actually reach that crisis, to which it is rapidly approaching, before Christmas. At this moment, the schools are able to take care of the pupils, due to the fact that many of the workmen with children have left for other jobs.

Before the first of the year, several thousand officers and enlisted men, who have families, will somehow crowd into the already "satuated" Grenada. These children MUST receive training in the local schools. It would not only be inhuman but illegal for ANY educatable child to be denied the benefits of our free institutions of learning. However much these soldiers who have families are advised, "leave your families at home, as Grenada is satuated," they will bring them in. And who, may we ask, would deny to a man soon destined to fight for you and me on foreign soil the privilege and the happiness of being with his family for perhaps the last time?

The government's first plan was to erect supplementary school buildings in such areas as this to take care of the overflow. Since that time, material scarcity has reached such a degree that it is impossible to follow this plan. At this time the government is willing to rent additional school quarters, pay the necessary additional teachers and to restore the rented quarters to their former state. The government is also willing to pay such additional transportation as is necessary for the overflow pupils.

Surely somewhere in Grenada there can be found some quarters that may serve during this great emergency.

Will Grenada, even at some sacrifice, rise to this emergency?

Agreeing And Disagreeing

I usually agree with what my friends on the Board of Supervisors do, and have frequently commended them for their very wise handling of the county finances, which has resulted in substantial reduction in taxes for next year, but I disagree with them in their action in "laying off" the two deputies of Sheriff Hayward, Walter Young and Clayton Carpenter. If those two men were not giving satisfactory service, well and good, hire two others.

The burdens on the civil authorities, that is the sheriff's force and the city marshal's force are very great and are getting greater every day as more and more soldiers and camp followers come into this community. So far the MP's, according to my information, were less effective in handling the negro soldiers last Saturday night—when hell broke aloose on the Peavine and in parts of West Ward—than the civil authorities. I am willing to grant that, when things at the camp become better organized, the MP's will probably be able to handle the soldiers, but what of the riff raff that follows the soldiers? MPs have no right to interfere with civilians. That is a duty of the civil authorities.

Having been a soldier and having lived in a "camp town" I KNOW that Sheriff Hayward and his last remaining deputy, Matt Cooley, cannot handle the county's responsibilities in the chaotic period ahead.

I sincerely hope that the Board of Supervisors will reconsider its action, and provide more help (not necessarily Carpenter and Young, for other men may do better jobs) for the Sheriff.

Try To Be Patient

If the fights, broils, disobedience of and disrespect for military police, especially by negro soldiers, increase above Saturday night's nightmare in proportion to the number of soldiers who come to this area, Grenado will not be fit to live in by Christmas.

I am optimist to hope that, as the camp gets better organized, there will be less and less disturbance. It is almost axiomatic that the greater the organization, the more smoothly it operates. Mail is handled more expeditiously in the giant post office in New York than it is handled at the post office at 'Possum Ridge. The Commercial Apeal has more system than has a small newspaper like the GCW.

As new troops move in and new officers move in, it is almost impossible to perfect organization and enforce discipline immediately. This organization and this discipline will, I hope, follow as the "Possum Ridge post office" becomes greater. If things do not improve, Grenada will shortly become a hell on earth.

Without discipline, a body of soldiers is nothing more than a mob.

After being in Biloxi a good many time, and seeing thousands of soldiers from on ORGANIZED camp, and after seeing so few drunken soldiers and so little disorder, I predict that ere long, conditions here will progressively improve. If not, God help us.

In the meantime, I suggest that the Provost Marshal instruct military police in Grenada to get "pig iron," to see that all soldiers not provided with passes be bundled up and returned to camp and that the "Peavine" hell hole be placed "out of bounds" as well as certain sections of "West Ward" for white soldiers. Otherwise there are likely to be tragedies in Grenada.

Congratulations, Mr. Talbert

Congratulations are due Mr. J. M. Talbert, City Street Commissioner, who has been acting as county scrap collection chairman upon bringing Grenada County's scrap to the top point in the State of Mississippi and second in the tri-states area of Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi.

I was present Monday morning when he added another small tank to Uncle Sam's armament when he pursuaded the County Board of Supervisors to permit the removal for scrap purposes of the old wrought iron fence in front of the court house yard.

He is most sanguine in his hope to have the 100 pounds per person quota for this county complete by Armistice Day.

Washington "Mentality"

In the view of many writers, one of the obstacles to the swift and efficient prosecution of the war is what might be termed the "Washington mentality." It is an insidious form of disease which seems to strike a great many government workers, both the important and the obscure. The symptoms are an ever-expanding bureaucracy which is bound lock, stock and barrel in miles of red tape.

In a recent column, Dorothy Thompson touched on this trouble. "In Washington," she wrote, "the facts of life are the government itself. Therefore all the struggles of life occur inside the government . . . In a normal city there is a constant interplay of interests, and one meets, day by day, industrialists, artists, officials, teachers, physicians, and all sorts and conditions of men, so that there is a constant correction and adaptation of one viewpoint to another viewpoint. In Washington, since there is no normal intercourse, the world enters in the form of lobbyists, ambassadors from groups in the nation to the capitol . . . And eventually the domestic life of the nation becomes as complicated as foreign policy."

In Washington, in short, thousands of people are continually striving for political or economic power of some sort. The big men in the government—the President, his cabinet, the heads of major departments--are surrounded by "yes" men who are seeking to curry favor in high places. As a result, many of the big men become super-sensitive to criticism. They lose touch with the country. Often they are tremendously overworked, and their energies are devoted to routine matters which could and should be done by underlings. There is a tremendous waste of time and effort in making decisions on matters of major policy.

The lack of cohesion in the seat of our government has been shown many times. It has become a commonplace for top officials to make opposed declarations on the same subject. The rubber problem is the prime example of that—practiacly everyone in Washington has had his say about it, and the result has been a vast and needless confusion in the public mind. Selective Service policy is still another example. Every few days a new dictum is handed down—and very often it is greatly at variance with the one which preceded it. General Hershey says one thing, the state draft directors say another, some spokesman for the Manpower Commission or the War Labor Board says still another, and then the local draft boards, which are laws unto themselves, go blithly ahead and do what they please.

According to capital veterans, some of the ablest men in the country have gone to Washington, and unconsciously become victims of the "Washington mentality." As the old proberb has it, they can't see the forest because of the trees. They too are enmeshed in red tape, and they too tend to regard criticism as a sort of treason. And in the meantime, the bureaucracy grows bigger and better entrenched, and the wheels move slower and slower.

Dorothy Thompson believes that the answer, in short, is to "decentralize our bureaucracy—decentralize it to the point where once a clear policy has been laid down, decisions can be made all over the country and far away from Washington." Still another essential is to free responsible officials of routine paper work so that they can lay down clear policies. And a third essential is to stick to policies once they are made—and to keep third-string officials from bedeviling the public with confused and contradictory statements.—Wayne County News.

The Election Is Over

The beer election is over and gone. Let's think about more important things, for instance the war which we are now losing, and the freedom that is at stake in this global war.

I have been looked at like a bastard calf is viewed by a bull, by several people whom I have favored in the past. These baleful glares were inspired by the same human reactions that prompted the burning of the witches at Salem and the persecution of the Savior by the Jews—in other words, intolerance. I am and always have been willing to accord the right of free thinking and free balloting to others, and I retain the same right for myself.

My hide is thick. As far as I am concerned, those "who persecuted and abused me" are forgiven. Life is too short to perpetuate animosities. It's bad on the heart. So far as I am concerned, the glares and the looks of scorn and contempt are forgotten. I had my honest convictions on the matter and expressed them in cold, imperishible print. I have nothing to apologize for. I have nothing to retract. If I was a sinner to vote to retain beer, I am still a sinner.

Yes, the election is over. There are more important things ahead.

Terrible sinner may I be, but I did not have the presumption to forge another man's name to anything I wrote. What I wrote, I wrote with a capital "I".

The Knocker And The Booster

A friend of Mr. W. B. Hoffa and one of the leading citizens of Grenada thinks the following lines so accurately depict Mr. Hoffa's character, and especially what his talents and energies have meant to Grenada, that he has taken the liberty of applying the quotation to Mr. Hoffa:

"When the Creator had made all the good things, there was still some dirty work to do, so he made the beasts and the reptiles and poisonous insects, and when he had finished he had some scraps that were too bad to put into the rattlesnake, the hyena, the scorpion and the skunk, so he put all these together, covered it with suspicion, wrapped it with jealousy, marked it with a yellow streak and called it a 'knocker.'

"This product was so fearful to contemplate that he had to make something to counteract it, so he took a sunbeam and put in it the heart of a child, the brain of a man, wrapped these in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet, a grip of steel, made him a lover of fields and flowers and manly sports, a believer in equality and justice, and called it a 'Booster;' and ever since these two were, mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates."—A clipping from an undated copy of The Grenada Sentinel.

Aint they sweet.

Me and the USA.

Forget prejudice and friendship next year and vote for the BEST man for EVERY office.

GORE SPRINGS

To the soldier boys and others who look forward to the Gore Springs news in the GCW your reporter doesn't know very much news as you know times are very dull around here. While you know Earl Eharpe and family had to go to Pig Creek Sunday and eat a big birthday dinner. Guess he feels better this week as he really steps on the gas driving that gravel truck.

Monday afternoon Mesdames Dora Neal and Eva White added cheer to the homes of Mesdames J. C. and Annie Tharpe by their presence.

Don't know about the Gillons, but were all OK, dad and all the rest, last week.

So your reporter don't know much news but will try to send a word or two each week, and hope our editor can find space for the GSN each week.

YATES-JONES

A marriage of interest throughout North Mississippi was quietly solemnized Monday afternoon, November 2, at three-thirty o'clock in the attractive home of Miss Lida Lake Owen on her niece Dick Jones, daughter of Mrs. Collins Jones and the late Mr. Jones, a popular member of the younger social set, became the bride of Sgt. Jack Yates, of Camp Blanding, Fla., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Yates, of Grove City, Ohio. The double ring service was read by Rev. W. L. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, rings used were those of the bride's parents, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

In the living room furnished with antiques, and before a handsome buffet, heirloom of the Jones family, banked with white chrysanthemums and ferns, the ceremony was read, many gift flowers decorated both the living room and hall. The bride entering on the arm of her cousin, Mr. W. C. Trotter, who gave her in marriage, was a picture of youthful loveliness in a two piece suit of Powder blue wool with brown off-the-face hat and other accessories, her shoulder corsage was a cattle a orchid and tuberoses, her only ornament was an ivy leaf engraved gold bracelet. Her maternal grandmother's, Mrs. Lida Lake Owens. She was attended as maid of honor by her college classmate, Miss Carolyn Speck, who wore purple wool with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of Briarcliff roses. The precious little ring bearer, Margaret Ann Harris was dressed in dusty pink taffeta and carried a Colonial bouquet of rose as did Miss. Mr. Roy Harris served as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony Sgt. and Mrs. Yates left by automobile for Florida.

Watch Your Kidneys!
Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.
Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

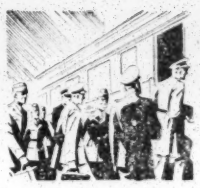
TRAVEL in WARTIME



THE fact that the United States is a nation of travelers is largely due to the efforts of the railroads to increase passenger business by cultivating the desire to go places and providing attractive transportation to get there. It is therefore surprising to find the railroads withdrawing accustomed passenger services and urging the American people to refrain from unnecessary travel. This, however, is being done and will be done increasingly.

The reasons for this move need to be recognized and understood.

The passenger transportation required by our armed forces is enormous and is increasing every day. This must be met in full and will be, come what may.

Civilian travel essential to winning the war has also grown tremendously and will continue to grow. For this the railroads must provide transportation to the limit of their ability to do so.

After these comes the movement of civilians whose travel, however important to themselves, is not an indispensable part of the war effort. So far the railroads have done about all they have been called upon to do for these travelers. However, the time is at hand when there will have to be an increasing curtailment of this kind of travel to make way for war transportation.

Changes are being made in railroad passenger services. Seasonal trains to Florida have been ruled out. There will be no chartered cars or special trains except for military business. Second sections of established trains will not be operated except where they have been operated regularly in the past. Passenger schedules are being lengthened to accommodate longer trains and more stops. Such changes are being made to insure that the railroads continue to provide all the passenger transportation that is needed to win the war.

This will call for some sacrifice by all of us. It will mean giving up, possibly for the duration of the war, the cherished privilege of going whenever and wherever we please. Knowing it is for our national war effort, we all should and will respond willingly, cheerfully. In so doing we shall be contributing to the ultimate victory wherein lies our hope for preservation of the American way of life.

BEVELL-BOONE

A marriage of note in North Mississippi occurred Sunday, November 1st, when Miss Ladye Mavis Boone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boone, of Batesville, former citizens of Grenada, became the bride of Mr. Grady Walton "Pat" Bevell, son of Mrs. G. W. Bevell and the late Mr. Bevell, of Batesville. The ceremony was solemnized at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in Batesville. The Rev. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Mary Alice Boone was her sister's only attendant, and Mr. Marvin Taylor served as Mr. Bevell's best man.

Following the wedding a reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Boone. The home was beautifully decorated with Autumn flowers and greenery. The large wedding cake was cut by the bridal pair and served with punch following the salad course.

Mr. and Mrs. Bevell will be at home at 172 S. Riverside, East Memphis, Tennessee after a honeymoon in the South.

Camy McCain News

Mr. Emil Kratt, former Project Manager for J. A. Jones at Camp McCain spent the day here this Tuesday. He arrived at noon, and took time out from his job of inspection to have lunch at the Barwin, where we ran into him. He went back to the home office in Charlotte the same night.

Mr. Pellett, now the Project Manager, you know, is having those lonely lunches again now that Mrs. Pellett has returned to Greenville, S. C. Their son, John, is stationed at Quincy, Mass. He joined the Navy as an Ensign in the Engineering Corps this August, and was ordered to Quincy. At present, he is at Norfolk, Va. for a two weeks' training course. John graduated from Vanderbilt two years ago. He spent several days with his father here this summer.

Mr. Ed Touchberry, Cornelia's husband, joined the Sea Bees, a branch of the Naval Reserve, three weeks ago and was just called to active duty, so they are spending this week visting their families at Glen Allen. Margie Smith is temporarily taking Cornelia's place as Lt. Emmon's secretary.

Speaking of Lt. Emmons, we think that we should tell you about the chief football fan of the Camp. He was doing pretty well in his predictions until he offered to bet any amount last week on Ohio State against Wisconsin—any amount doubled. He even called up loyal Wisconsin rooters to get them to bet with him.

This Monday was an important day in the U. E. Engineers building, and a great conference was called in Capt. Trice's office. General Clarkson was visiting, and many other dignitaries were there of the military world. Suddenly there was a tremendous explosion in the small office. Sabotage-Fifth Columnist? No, Major Overbeck, being newly arrived and unacquainted with the working of the office of the Intelligence Officer had innocently reached in Capt. Trice's drawer for a match, and picked up one of the trick explosive ones that the Captain had tried in vain on all of his callers for the past week.

The two new arrivals in the U. S. Gov't. Building are Miss Beulah Martin and Miss Bettie Johnston. Both of the girls were transferred last Tuesday from Guard Headquarters Office, where they had been working since September the 11th. Beulah is from Greenwood, and Betie from Carrollton, and both commute daily.

Did you all remember to congratulate Col. Ryder on his birthday last Saturday? He is the Commanding Officer, you all know, and is very charming. Both he and Mrs. Ryder are well known and popular in Grenada, though arriving only a few weeks ago.

Miss Myrtle Kelly still receives that daily letter from New Orleans. It's from Gus, formerly of Dyre-Kent and now of the U. S. Army. But she was at the late show this Saturday, and his name surely wasn't Gus!!

We're all glad to see Al Villane back again expertly taking care of the sprigging and sprouting around camp. He's been working hard over at Camp Rucker, Ala. grassing the Air Base these two weeks, and the Lunch-crowd at the Barwin have really missed him.

All those Jones boys are planning another trip, this time southward to New Orleans, leaving Friday. That means that Memphis will have a rather quiet week-end this time.

Mrs. Hersee Moody Carson, of Los Angeles, is in Grenada a few days looking after business affairs. While here she paid her subscription.

According to Fred Sullens, a Mississippi negro soldier, stationed in Egypt wrote back home as follows: I am in Egypt where they say Christ was born. I wish to Christ I was back in Mississippi where I was born."

Longer Wear For Electric Cords

"LIFELINE" OF MANY a home appliance, the electric cord is another article that deserves special care in wartime.

For copper and rubber—used in such cords—are needed by our fighting men. Copper and rubber go into the very implements that can make the difference between life and death for our armed forces—success or failure of the war.

So, though it seems a little thing, make your electric cord last as long as possible. That way you can help conserve copper and rubber and help yourself. The good care that makes your cord wear longer also makes it serve you better.

The main thing to keep in mind about your appliance cords is to be reasonably careful with them, no matter how sturdy they seem. Good care repays in longer service—insures safety in use.

Much of the wear on an electric cord comes when it is being connected or disconnected. Always grasp the plug or cap at the end of the cord when you take it from the wall outlet . . . never pull on the cord itself.

When you use a cord with a switch, or an outlet controlled by a switch, make all connections and disconnections with the switch turned off. By doing this, you save the metal prongs and outlets from the sparking that sometimes takes place when connections are made with the current on. Sparking eventually wears away the metal—and metal is hard to replace now.

If your iron has no thermostat and there is no switch control, you may have to control the temperature of your iron by disconnecting it frequently while you are using it. Make these disconnections from the wall outlet, not from the iron itself. When you are through ironing you disconnect at both wall outlet and iron.

Watch for signs of wear on outside covering of an electric cord. Repairing the first frayed place may save a lot more trouble later on. Hard use or rough handling can wear off the covering, may even wear off the inside insulation so that one or both of the wires are exposed. If the bare wires touch while current is flowing, a short circuit is formed. The result—an excessive flow of current that may result in a blown fuse . . . a cord burned in half . . . or even a fire.

Heat can injure both covering and inside insulation of electric cords—so keep your cords from touching hot surfaces. If a cord is permanently attached to a heating appliance, make sure the appliance is cool before you wrap the cord around it for storage. And above all, don't let an electric cord get wet—unless of course, it's a rubber covered type for use in wet places.

When cords are "off duty", store them with care so they will work for you longer. Always remove separate cords from appliances when you are through using them. This preserves tension in the plug chips that fit over the appliance prongs.

Hang the cords over large, round wooden pegs . . . or over two or more metal hooks. It's better to hang a cord over two pegs than one, because the bend will not be so sharp. A sharp bend weakens the wire and may eventually cause it to break.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Darrow Horn has quit being a cop and is now devoting all of his attention to the sale and distribution of the Commercial Appeal.

More and more people are buying personal stationery printed in our office. Come by and see the attractive samples.

Our second son, Andrew, who volunteered in the Air Corps, is now at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala. Maybe they will get around to some of the single men, apparently overlooked, before the war is over.

The Slate Springs bundle has been laden with another copy, one destined for Brother J. S. Pyror, a substantial citizen of that community.

Hell broke aloose on the Peavine and in parts of West Ward Saturday night. More to come.

Aint they sweet.

It is going to take a big bunch of HARD-BOILED MP's to cope with the situation soon to arise in Grenada.
